Answer

I enjoyed the speaker and the topic.

4. What is your level of satisfaction with the February meeting? - Comments

Answer

I was worried when our speaker mentioned hostas but she presented only native plants and was very interesting and personable.
Much of what she talked about, I already knew. But a good program for beginners.
It bugs me when presenters read their slides. It tells me they think I can't read.
I did learn from the talk and took notes of interesting facts but was disappointed that the talk was mostly facts that I could look up by myself. After rereading the newsletter, she delivered what was promised but I was hoping for more personal insights as to cultivation and companions.
I appreciated the brochures and the library that was available in addition to the speaker.
I fell asleep. I often do!
disagreed with the speaker's use of ephemeral. Lots of information.

Would have liked more specific information on the plants themselves, where they like to grow, what they look like through the growing season (first leaves, flowers, seed pods etc.) Also which ones do well together.

This sounds like a fascinating topic.
Sounds great!
I have heard him speak and found him very interesting.
I have a conflict that night. 'm really sorry to miss the program.

6. How likely are you to recommend a Wild Ones meeting or event to a friend, colleague or family member? - Comments

Answer

Very good educational programs
I think I already have. I recommended natives to someone local who's decided he's too old to keep mowing the ditch/swale in yard ala last summer's naturalizer presentation. Will see what happens.

7. Do you have any suggestions for improving the meetings and events that we offer? - Responses

Answer

I very much enjoyed the program on shooting stars. Though it had a very narrow focus I would like to see a few more like that...dealing in depth with a single species, such as orchids, for instance.
Invasive control -- maybe without using herbicides would be worthwhile topic.
Give me a hot cup of tea before the speaker.
I am very happy with the way things at W.O. are currently. Great topics.
